

SINCE 2005, GLASHÜTTE-BASED Tutima has sponsored the world-famous Kieler Woche as the Official Timekeeper at the Kieler Woche Regattas. Since 2009 the brand has even skippered its own ship with a fourteen-person (female) crew that regularly competes in international regattas. The boat itself is a racing cruiser that is 46 feet long, boasts a 23-meter mast height, and has around 230 square meters of sail surface.

Tutima remains strongly anchored in sailing, and last year the firm unveiled the M2 Seven Seas, a 44mm model based on the successful M2 chronograph that Tutima launched a few years ago.

The 44mm titanium M2 Seven Seas offers the time, date and day. The automatic movement is visible through the sapphire crystal caseback, and the rotor is grey to complement the titanium case. This watch arrives with a blue or black dial, SuperLuminova hands and markers and is available with a titanium bracelet with folding clasp ($2,300) or with a Kevlar strap ($1,900).

M2 Seven

